

ANDREW BLASZAK ANNOUNCED AS BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT MANAGER FOR HI-VOL PRODUCTS

April 2, 2007 - Mr. Andrew Blaszak has been appointed to the position of Business Development Manager for Hi-Vol Products effective immediately. In this position Andrew will report to Brian Chichila, Director of Sales & Marketing.

Andrew will be primarily responsible for securing new business with both new and existing customers. He will assist in the coordination of the overall sales and commercial activities of the organization, including new business launch and management, price quoting, on-time delivery monitoring and continuous improvement projects to achieve targeted cost reductions required by our customers. Andrew will also be actively involved in the administration of sales objectives, strategies, advertising and promotional programs.

Andrew joins us with an extensive background in the fastener industry. He began his career at MascoTech where he worked as a CAD Designer and then Applications Engineer. Andrew was then transferred to the Lake Erie Products, Livonia, MI facility, where he worked as the Sales Application Engineer. He also spent some time at the Lake Erie Products, WoodDale, IL facility, as a Program Manager. Most recently Andrew was at Holbrook Manufacturing as an Outside Sales Representative.

Andrew attended Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, MI, where he holds a degree in Engineering.
